VOLUME 75

LONGVIEW HIGH SCHOOL

1201 TOMLINSON PKWY.

LONGVIEW, TEXAS 75601

214 — 663-1301

Coming on STRONG

The morning of September 1, broke. All over the city we dragged ourselves out of bed and got ready for a new school year. With sunglasses on, adjusting to the bright morning sun, we hopped into our cars or into buses and rode toward 1201 Tomlinson Parkway, knowing the faculty had prepared for the confused mob of students to come racing up the main stairwell.

To our underclassmen, the open doors revealed a mass of confusion and fright. The disoriented newcomers wandered around aimlessly looking for their classes: afraid to ask "the big and mighty SENIORS"; their preference is to find it themselves. Little did the newcomers know that "the SENIORS" would be more than happy to help because they were once in the same situation. To upperclassmen, these same doors meant a future filled with SAT 's, stacks of college applications, and of course, reciting lines from Shakespeare's "MacBeth" in Mrs. Yates' English class.

Although we recognized the changes and new faces around campus, the doors also revealed just the finest memories of slow dances with that special someone, the dissected frog that fell on the floor in biology, or the embarrassment felt when that "I Love You" balloon was delivered to algebra. These and many more memories are just the little things that make us unique!

TRADITIONS

Someone once said the only things that don't change are "Taxes, Death, and Changes". Meaning, nothing ever really stays the same.

Through the years Longview High School has made quite a few drastic changes. The first high school was located at the now Foster Middle School. The second high school was the Old LHS located downtown. Now we have the biggest and the best high school, which was built in 1976. The new high school is in the process of being enlarged by new additions of a ninth grade wing, a new gym, a new football practice field and even a new baseball field.

Ever since 1932, football has been more than a tradition; it has become an institution, along with another traditional factor, the pep rally. Everyone seems to take part in pep rallies, making them a personal tradition

Traditions, here, vary from all sports and activities to the cafeteria lunches, that are the same from year to year.

Striving for the Best

When the bell rings at 3:22, students leave school; at least most of them do. Much dedication and time is given to the high school by members of activities that we tend to forget about. Several organizations devote afterschool hours to help support and represent Longview High School to make it the best it can be. The Viewettes, Debate, Library Club, . . . the list goes on and on.

During football season, the cheerleaders spend about 15 hours a week preparing for the Friday's activities. Practicing cheers and chants, routines and pyramids is just a little part of their job. It also includes getting the pep rallies together, making signs for both the games and the locker banks. Also the most important feat they have to conquer is the big responsibility to raise school spirit.

The Academic Decathlon and Mock Trial studied hours and hours to represent Longview in the academic arena. And that they did, Academic Decathlon came in 3rd place in district and Mock Trial won regionals and advanced to State.

As the deadline aproaches, you will always find the yearbook staff working very dilligently until all hours of the night or you could say to all hours of the morning. Typing in the computer, making corrections or redrawing quad paks, that is their yearly schedule.

Anybody who stays to put extra hours in sees a side of the school that many don't see. The quiet, dark and peaceful hallways with no mass confusion, but the simple and true LHS that everyone should experience penetrates one's soul giving a new appreciation for our home away from home.

Not a word of complaint has been spoken for the extra time spent by so many. After spending so much time, the final outcome becomes a rich reward. That is why anyone who spent the extra time doing "their thing", be it academic or athletic are Striving for the BEST!

Friends

A wide range of friends can be found here on campus. Friends share football games, cafeteria food, and sunlight at lunch.

Friends make everyone's high school years more memorable, especially when facing the many obstacles to be overcome.

Our parents probably can recall those special times and special friends during their high school years. Some friends still live in Longview and see one another occasionally, like at Christmas and Thanksgiving. Old friends who live in other cities and states still keep in touch by writing letters, sending holiday greetings or just by paying a simple visit.

Things haven't changed much. Weekends and friends went together hand in hand; they still do. Weekends didn't seem to come around often enough during the school year, but when they did everyone let loose and had a great time. No — things haven't changed much.

Times spent together
Cars we use,
All the money we spend
The clothes we choose
Weekend night cruisin'
Walkin' in the halls
Telling our fears
Making those calls

Money we lend
The stuff we buy,
Our "private" talks
Asking "why?"
May it never end
We want it to last
Be forever friends
'Til our time is past!

FRIENDS ARE FOREVER!

Changing with the Times

None of us can remember the price of a T.V., a car or the simple coke twenty years ago. Amazing changes in economics, politics, and social life have taken many changes before we were ever born. Many of the changes that have been made have had a great impact on our lives. Likewise in our lifetime we will be responsible for changes that will effect the children of the next generation.

About ten years ago a bond issue for a new high school was held. The old school was getting too crowded and something had to be done. When the issue was brought before the city, they loved it! Immediately it was voted on and was overwhelmingly passed.

The 1984-85 football season brought on another big change. Sponsored by Fairview Nursery, LOBOS was printed on the hill with shrubery. This act clearly claimed it as Lobo stadium.

In our generation, we still have immigration. The U.S. continues to be a melting pot for all nationalities and cultures.

LHS is no exception. Students attending school come from many foreign lands. Some make the adjustment to a new culture with no problem.

With all of the changes going about this year, it is sure to have an effect on our life later on. For the past couple of years, it seems things are changing too fast. We must keep up because things are Changing with the Times.

HOT RODS

Everyone can remember riding a forty-eight passenger bus or walking to school when they were a lowerclassmen.

With upperclassmen, cars are a favorite. We can find cars from 1940 to 1988. Many cars range from Cheverolets and Fords to BMW's.

This 1939 Chevrolet street rod belongs to Ron and Rita Courson of Kilgore, Texas.

There are many colors to choose from starting with pink ending with black covering all the strange colors in between.

In so many words, the parking lot may be mistaken for a used car lot.

Several different cars are fixed up to the "MAX" while others are not very eye catching — just plain ordinary.

Even though the styles, colors, and years may change, nothing will change about the feeling of having and owning your own car.

Did you know that?

At least seven-hundred students own cars on campus.

ONLY THE STRONG SURVIVE

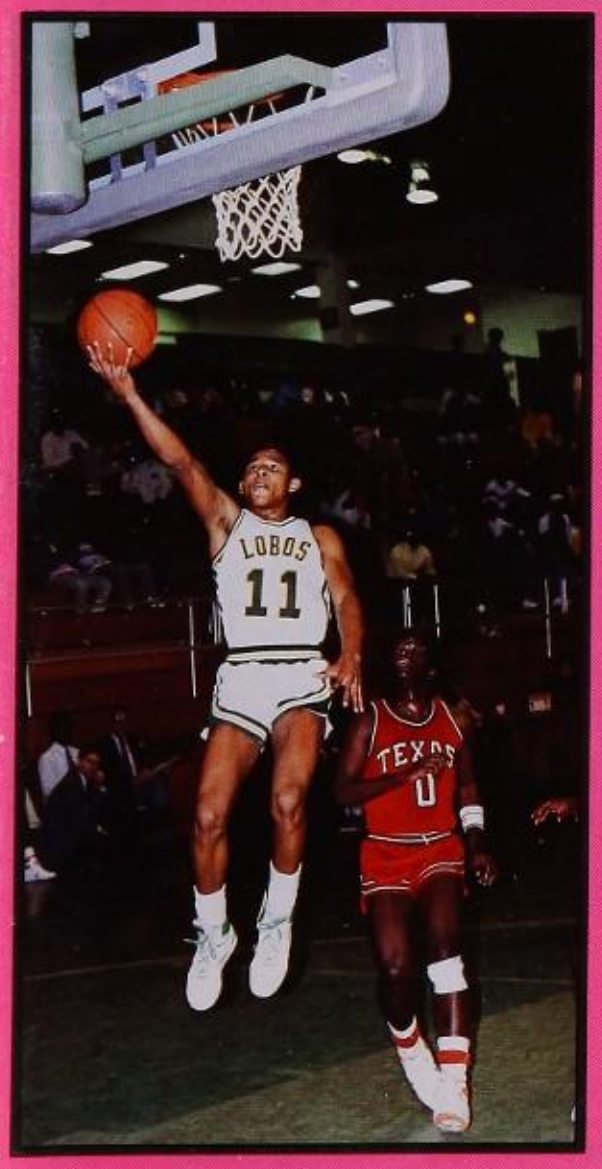
The success of a sports program depends largely on the individuals involved in it. The existence of one would be impossible without the input of the coaches, students and parents. However, the students themselves are the key force behind it all.

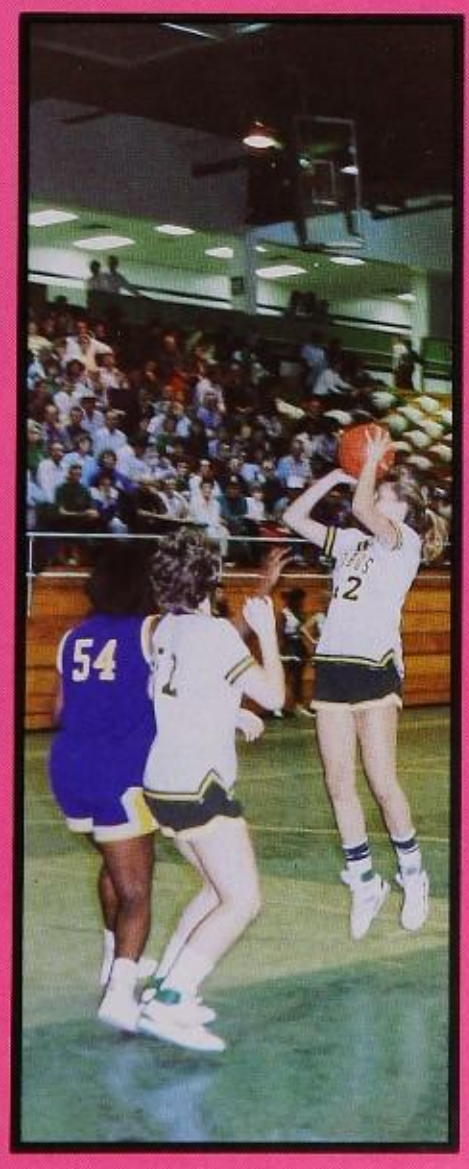
Individuals must be part of a team, and this requires certain things from each and every participant. Most importantly it requires the ability to work together with other people towards one common goal.

Such unity is hard to achieve and students must contribute much emotionally as well as physically.

Other factors involved in a successful sports program include: the willingness of each and every person to compete, ability of the individual to perform to his best ability, a personal desire to achieve, and acceptance of victory as well as dealing with the inevitable defeat.

Judging by the success which the coaches, students and involved parents have enjoyed, they have obviously given what it takes to give Longview's sports program the great strength to survive under all circumstances.





"The sports program here has been a great learning experience."

Altha Palmer-Jr.

"It really teaches you the real meaning of teamwork."

Mark Saurette-Sr.

"I've really enjoyed it, the coaches are just great."

Anthony Bradley-Jr.

A DIFFERENT WORLD

Throughout the years there has been quite a change on the world.

In the 60's there were bell bottoms and plaid shirts, mini-skirts above the mid-thigh, six-inch thick heels on platform shoes. Now this is the 80's and there are straight leg pants with and without zippers, extra-large shirts some plaid, but mostly print such as a college name or a famous name brand. In the 50's name brands such as flour sacs and Braxton's and the first generation of Levi's. In the 1980's there are Guess, Levi's, stone-washed Lee's, plain Lee's, Venezia, Coca-Cola, Pepsi, and the most recent new style is the colored acid washed jeans.

Shoes in the 80's have made a drastic change for the better. There are 5"heels, Dexter's, top-siders, penny loafers, Stacy-Adams and even shoes to match blue jeans identically."

Another change is the hair-do. In 1950's there were ponytail's, and Afro's. six feet wide, now there are perm waves, box cuts, scalped heads, curls, permanents, and even colored hair. Strwnge haircuts, like, college signs, one-sided wopes and so forth are seen everywhere.

Years from now people will have the same reaction to our styles as we do about of parents style.

Student Life

Not being content to just sit down and watch the parade go by, we got invloved in what went on around us.

Were we ever at a loss for something to do? If we weren't running to be on time for that after school job, we were trying to find a ride home because we forgot our equuptment for practice. We got up extra early for orchestra practice so that all the difficult music could be mastered before a concert.

Could we ever find the time to fit everything that needed to be accomplished in our twenty-four hour days. It seemed somehow, in someway, we fit in every sport, every activity, and every job, and every problem. On top of it all, we still found the time to sit back, take a breather, and have a good time.

Homecoming '87

The day started sunny and warm with no showers in sight. As the time for the pre-game festivities grew near the candidates faces were shiny, bright and full of cheer. Nominees Elaine Childress, Cathy Cook, Eva Lee, Camisa Springs and Aliceson Wallace waited for the ceremonies to begin. Finally the time had come for these girls to be escorted onto the field by their fathers. The crowd grew quiet in anxious anticipation, then burst into cheers as Aliceson Wallace was crowned the 1987 Homecoming Queen. This would be an event that would truly stand out about her senior year. Pictured top right are; Cathy Cook, Eva Lee, Aliceson Wallace, Elaine Childress, and Camisa Springs. Achievements

All the announcements that we didn't quite hear revealed many individual and team honors. This section of the book is by far one of the most important because all these important honors are unveiled.

Those long grueling extra hours you put in after practice seem to pay off sooner or later. All District is by far not easy to attain. How about those additional hours of studying you put in for the National Latin Exam?

Achievements mean different things to different people. Honors are an important piece in our life. Along with many other things, honors just add pieces to the big puzzle of our life.

An Ode to Old LHS

"All hail to dear Old Longview
High School!
We pay you honor today.
We will tell the world
That your honor will stay.

All hail to those who came before us
And made you so strong.
We will never falter
Or do you wrong!"

The sound of these words do ring
And a touch of nostalgia bring.
The thoughts in my mind of late
Make my heart nigh to break.

The dozens of times I sang your song,
I promised not to do you wrong.
But the passing of time has told,
you see,
My words were but an empty decree.

Soon the wrecker's ball will fall,
But not the memories you gave us all.
There were times of joy and tears;
These dearly we will hold for years.

Helen and "Dimples" in their rooms did teach.
And "Wilkie", his philosophy would reach.
Mr. Field climbed your stairs upon his hands.
And when he did, we gasped,
"Oh, my lands!"

At 3:20 the parking lot
With smoke would fill.
Then to the "Point" or "DC"
For a quick chill.
There we'd gather and plans did make
Who we'd ask out for a date.

I'll ne'er forget that cold
November:
It's so easy to remember.
Rod came from the next room
and cried,
"Our president: he has died!"

To the War Great, Korea,
And the Viet Nam of late
Your sons you so freely gave
For our freedom to save.
Some of your boys answered the call.
Then, as men, some gave their all.

Though we came and though we went,
We'll never forget the times we spent.
In your halls and rooms we abode
And shared life's dreams and life's load.

Taking a Studious Stand

Mock trial? Do you know what that even is? It is a group of people who devoted many hours of hard work to their desired profession, law.

Advised by Vicki Clark, this year's team did an excellent job and represented our school well. The sly, but clever, attorneys were Michael Matlock and Amy Davis. The innocent yet truthful witnesses were: Clint Choate, Casey Hawthorne, Mandy Joaquin, and Paul Matlock.

Melvin Wilcox III, or better known as "Trip" Wilcox, helped drill the eager students for the meets. A productive lawyer himself, he spent up to 7 hours a week with these hopeful lawyers.

This year's team won the District meet enabling them to proceed to the Regional meet. There they did an outstanding job coming in first place. The next step was on to the big capital city for state competition. Winning three cases and losing one put our state ranked team into the number twelve position.

Although the team didn't win state they were very proud of this great accomplishment. Doing their best is what they wanted to do, and what they did do. "We were awesome, (even if we were twelfth). Actually getting to do something like this was quite an experience, a learning one," said Michael Matlock.

That's Badgering the Witness
Paul Matlock points his finger in anger at Michael Matlock when he askes a leading question to the witness, Casey Hawthorne, as Clint Choate and "Trip" Wilcox look on.

Successful Sponsor
Vicki Clark savors the success of the Mock Trial team.

Is this the paper you signed?
Amy Davis confirms Mandy Joaquin's signature to prove her client not guilty.

The "Buddy" System

Our faculty and staff are a big piece that make up part of our special school. Teachers at LHS plan weeks and weeks of lesson plans while the cafeteria workers provide weekly food schedules.

Teachers spend an enormous amount of extra time to help students in need. Without the dedication and time spent, many students would not be what they are today. Teaching is not just sitting at the front of a classroom telling the students what to do. It takes a lot to get needed information into our thick skulls. This skill has been mastered by many teachers here at LHS. Mrs. Sigrid Yates once used paper planes gliding through the air to get her class to write descriptive sentences using all the parts of speech that we forgot had existed.

Everybody at LHS plays an important role in our education, be it teachers or staff. Without their support and dedication LHS would be considered just ordinary.

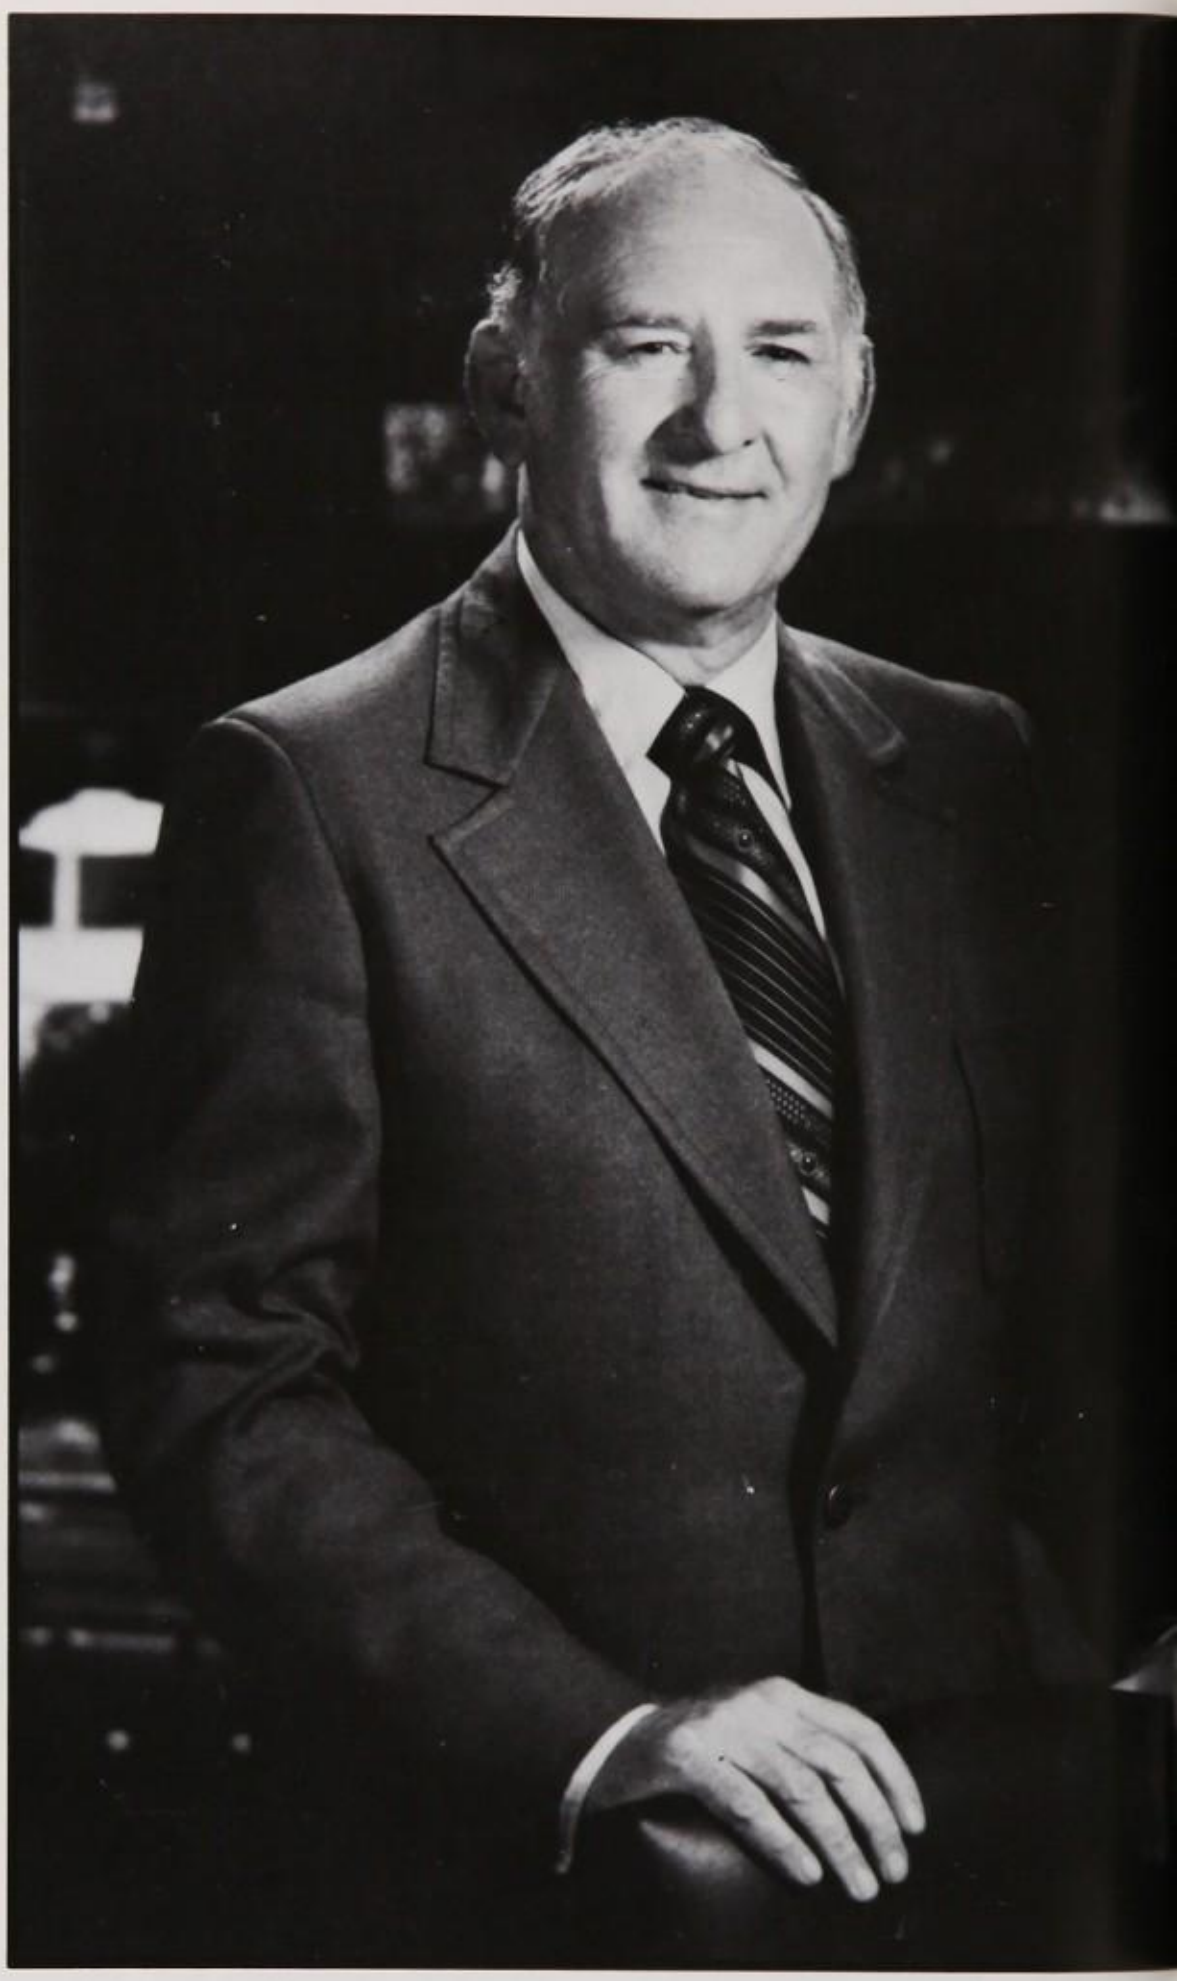
"School days are the best days of a young person's life. Not only are they exciting, but they also are filled with numerous opportunities for students to participate in wholesome activities that prepare kids for future success."

"The future belongs to those young people who seize the moment — who work diligently, who set goals and who learn to be flexible."

"My best feeling about schools and kids is summarized in the following quote: It is not the critic that counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled or whether the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood, who strives valiantly, who errs, and often comes up short again and again. Who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause. And who, if at best in the end, knows triumph of higher treatment and high achievement. And who, at worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly so that his soul shall never be with those cold and timid ones who know neither victory or defeat."



Robert McMinn
Principal

Principal Robert McMinn coordinates and supervises the overall operation of Longview High School, while other duties include a variety of other tasks. Some duties include serving as a representative in the community in which he makes speeches encouraging public involvement with the school while others involve becoming interactive in campus organizations.

The standing philosophy of LHS stands as follows: to acknowledge the wide range of abilities and educational needs of a diverse student population, to believe that a diverse population demands a diverse curriculum, to realize that a well-prepared, devoted staff is the key to successful student performance, and the implementing of the comprehensive instructional program is the shared responsibility of the students, school personnel, parents, and other community members.

Each year new goals for LHS are set with optimistic views. This year's goals were set to increase student achievement, improve communications, and develop citizenship. LHS has improved substantailly from recent years and will continue to do so in the future.

Counselors provide guidance services to students along with a varying degree of other responsibilities. They provide information to students and parents regarding school programs, offer educational counseling pertaining to appropriate course selections, and are available for individual counseling for effective adjustment to school and life. Counselors also assist in appraisal services for monitoring achievement and diagnosing areas of strengh, weakness, and interest.

With college selection becoming a major step in most graduates lives, counselors are helpful with advice on choices concerning institutions of higher learning, in seeking out degree opportunities, giving achievement tests and explaining the College Board Entrance exams. Some applications for scholarships from various schools and degree areas are kept on file from which counselors discuss and distribute to individuals who show an interest. Students are assigned to counselors by grade level and are available for conferences before and after school or during lunch periods.

Teachers . . . we've spent approximately 1350 hours with them this year. By the time we graduate we will have been together 2340 days. Their children, in some cases also their students, share 24 hours a day with them and over 6578 days of their lives.

Prestigious Populace

People section — for some, it's the most boring part of the book. To them, it's just rows and rows of mug shots. For a majority, it is a section of identification, a means of looking back at yourself, close friends and those old flames. Without the people section, how would we know what anyone looked like last year?

Let's tell the truth guys. We have all looked up that girlfriend's picture to see if she had braces last year too. Girls, how many times have you looked at earlier school pictures and said, "What ever possessed me to wear my hair like that?!"

Different mixtures of personalities, styles, feelings, and attitudes vary from picture to picture. Looking through the freshman section, the pictures seem to say, "I'm so scared, but I can't believe I'm finally here!". As you keep looking through, you see confident, timid and bright smiles. "One more year and I'm out on my own," says the confident grin of a SENIOR.

A Foreign Point of View . . .

Seven foreign exchange students crossed International waters to experience a cacophony of cultural changes.

Students interested in the foreign exchange program fill out applications and go through personal interviews before being selected.

After arriving in America the students immediately realized similarities and differences betweeen life in Texas and life in their home countries.

Jeanette Arnfast, from Denmark said she was amazed at the size of LHS and at the wide range of subjects for the students to choose from. She said that in Denmark the schools are smaller and the students take more academic courses.

Christinia Baier, from Germany, said she enjoyed having six classes. In Germany, she said, the students take 24 courses. Still she felt the American Universities would be harder that those in Germany.

Vickie Fernandez, from Spain, said that girls at her school in the Canary Islands generally wear dresses more than they wear jeans. She said that the girls dress more casually here in the United States.

Marie-Therese van der Kun, from the Netherlands, speaks four different languages. She said that she likes the food in America better. She also said that Americans spend a lot more money on clothes than people in her country. She also noted that sports play a major role in the school here.

Karen Goldsmith, from Australia, was the first of two exchange students to enter LHS at the beginning of the second semester. She stated that the first thing she noticed was cars driving on the "wrong" side of the street. She also said that in Australia girls were not allowed to wear make-up to school. She noticed that our vacations are very different than those in her country. For instance, they have six to eight weeks of summer vacation in December to January, two weeks for Easter, two weeks in June and July, and two weeks in September and October. She also stated that in her country sweaters are called jumpers, jumpers are called overall dresses, cookies are called biscuits, and biscuits are called scones.

Marcelo Pessoa, from Brazil, was the second of two exchange students to enter at the beginning of the second semester. The first thing he noticed was that people in our country don't know anything about Brazil. He stated that here people wear more make-up and eat more junk food. He said that the classes here are different than in his country. For example, there they have six classes are from 7:30 to 11:45 and the rest of the afternoon is for studying or playing. He also said that the people here are much more friendly than in Brazil.

While all of the students noticed differences in the ways of life in America and the ways of life in their home country, all of the exchange students agreed that boundries didn't matter. Teenagers are basically the same all over the world.

The Best Years Of Our Lives . . .

As the year began there was a feeling of unbelief among the seniors. Finally they had made it to the top! It was to be the last year they would have to put up with homework, teachers, parents and curfews associated with high school life.

The best years of their lives ended in May at (drum roll, please) Graduation. No matter how tough it was to get through those years they will always be remembered. Despite all the hard work (if they didn't have senioritis) that the seniors did in the last semester, it was all for a good reason. It helped prepare them for (trumpet blast, please) "life after high school"! Good Luck, Seniors; see you in the year 1998, 2008, 2018, 2028 . . .

Juniors . . . the overlooked upperclassmen. It was a goal of this year to keep from being overshadowed by the class ahead and establishing an identity of their own. It's not all hard work, but for some the junior year was the most difficult. Excelling socially and academically was a major aspect of being a junior. Preparing for SAT and ACT tests became more important, since college entrance is in the eleventh grade students sights. It was a year of anticipation, due to the added respect gained from freshmen and sophomores. Although they were only receiving a small taste of the Senior privileges that they looked forward to in the upcoming year. On the road to graduation, Juniors are now at their third stop. So watch out, because they're ready to move on.

Back By Popular Demand

The sophomores of '88 were relieved when they started school in September and found that they didn't have to answer to the names "fish" or "freshman" anymore. They soon learned their new name though — "underclassman." But even as underclassmen, sophomores found many more organizations and activities open to them. One important privilege that most of them obtained was driving. However, along with their privileges came more responsibilities. They met this challenge and achieved their goals for a great sophomore year.

Getting Their Act Together

As the doors of LHS opened on September 1, 1987, the bewildered Class of 1991 entered the building and crossed the threshold into a new and exciting adventure — high school. Adjusting to high school life was a big job for most freshmen, but their first step was to get their act together.

Freshmen had to learn a whole new set of rules. As high school students, they were treated like mature young adults and were expected to act that way. This put a lot of new responsibilities on them that they had to learn to deal with.

Entering high school also gave them much more freedom they had not previously enjoyed in middle school. With this freedom came other pressures. Freshmen had to learn to make the right decisions at the right time and not let outside pressures interfere with their school work and study habits.

Throughout the year, the freshmen looked up to the good example set by upperclassmen. They made many new, older friends who were good influences on them and helped them cope with the adjustments to high school life.

The Freshman Class Favorite were Jenny Pierson and Nick Richardson, All-Around Favorites; Holly Santos and Michael Rodriguez, Most Beautiful and Handsome; Molly Elam and Stephen Nethery, Cutest; Jennifer Young and Kelvin Cox; Friendliest; and Lisa Ferrell and Ross Morgan, Wittiest.

School just wouldn't be the same without extra-curricular activities as well as co-curricular activities. All of the activities here at LHS make up a part of our school life away from school.

At the beginning of the year, cheerleaders, band members and Viewettes raced to be on time for warm-up before the football game started. Z-Club and Anchor Club members r: ced to be on time to spend the afternoon with elderly people in the nursing home.

These activities played an important role in our lives. Throughout high school we just didn't grow physically but mentally also. We learned responsibility, teamwork and the true meaning of time. All of these activities took a reasonable amount of time but our willingness to conquer didn't stop us from joining more than one of them.

A Classic Conglomeration

Being a creative literary magazine designed by the students, the Lupus combined work from students in all four grade levels. The Lupus magazine showcased poetry, short stories, and essays on various topics.

Lupus, published annually in the spring, was purchased through the English Department for one dollar. Editors were Michael Matlock and Ruth Mary Hackler.

Being Constructive

Building Trades gave students the opportunity to have firsthand experience in constructing permanent structures. The main project each year is the construction of a house under the supervision of Ken Robertson. This year proved to be no different. The students were able to use building, mechanical, and electrical skills in creating the house on 105 Bobby Street.

The newly built house effected people other than the students. After undergoing many inspections to assure it met with city requirements, the house was put on the market.

Jacks of all Trades

Under the supervision of Mr. Henderson, General Mechanical Repair exposed the student to concepts associated with safe work practices. The care and use of hand tools and equipment were taught as well as automobile mechanics. Skills related to welding were taught and performed by students. Divided into three two semester courses CVAE-General Mechanical Repair prepared students for entry into the job market. Classes were taught in the Vocational Building downtown.

Michael Matlock placed 3rd in Honors Essay. Melissa Powell was 2nd in Scholastic Essay, 3rd in Scholastic Grammar and Literature, and 3rd in Scholastic Fine Arts. Andy Berger placed 1st in Varsity Essay and 2nd in Varsity Grammar and Literature. Alex Stutler placed 3rd in Varsity Math, Science, and Fine Arts. Students and Knowledge Equal Success

Quickness, accuracy, and knowledge are essential for the success of the math and science team. Each member competes in number sense, calculator, or science against his or her peers. This gives the students an opportunity to excel in the fields of math and science.

The students participating in number sense are required to work all the problems mentally. Therefore, they learn many shortcuts for solving mathmatical problems. Calculator participants must reason logically, set up problems, and solve them with a calculator quickly but accurately. The students competing in the science area must answer biology, chemistry, and physics problems based on current scientific research.

Mr. DeWayne Pierce, Mr. Wray Boyd, and Mr. Hugh Bob Wylie help and motivate the team members throughout competition and practice sessions.

Bake With The Best

Learning kitchen and sewing skills, the Future Homemakers of America (FHA), became better oriented with the routines and responsibilities of home and family living.

Raising funds were acquired by selling cookbooks and kitchen items. Some non-profit activities were: making clothes for children at the Asbury House and Harrison St. Day Care, and making cakes for special ed classes at the Instructional Resource Center. Showing their good will and cooperation, FHA also participated in the Great American Smoke-Out for the Cancer Society.

Being more than just work, the group held a Christmas tea party, and an end of school cookout at McWhorter Park. Overall, FHA had an excellent year of accomplishments.

Leading the Pack with Style & Ease

The Student Council strives to promote leadership and responsibility among its members. In order to achieve this goal, the council was involved in the community through service projects such as safety around campus including inspection sticker checks, "wear your seat belt" flyers, and bicycle safety. Many of the members visited various elementary schools in a campaign to stress the importance of safety.

The council emphasized the importance of involvement with their SADD chapter. Focusing on alcohol abuse and the dangers of drinking and driving, members participated in the SMILE program.

The council attended the TASC state convention and was named an Outstanding Council for the fifth consecutive year.

With open membership available, more than 150 students attended the monthly meetings.

Camaraderie Creates Cheerful Cheerleaders

From the flip of the coin to the final buzzer, the cheerleaders supported the Lobos throughtout the season. They took the spectators from their stadium seats to their feet. Regardless of which sport they cheered for, they symbolized the spirit of the student body to the Lobos.

The cheerleaders captured many awards at Sam Houston Cheerleading Camp during the summer. Shawna Hughes and Carmen Lamas were nominated for All-American Cheerleader, and the entire squad was awarded with the spirit stick and several blue ribbons for their superb performances.

Marching To The Future

Marching at the freshmen and j.v. games, local parades, and UIL contests, members of the Freshmen Band prepared for their future in the Big Green Marching Machine. These varsity bound students practiced for hours to show Lobo pride through their performances.

Mr. Lynn Childers, director, took them to UIL contests where they competed as our second band. Under UIL regulations they cannot compete as a Freshmen Band, demanding an excellent performance, which this group handled well.

Winning, That's Our Style

Being one of the major organizations, the varsity band attracts quality students desiring to enhance their talents.

After weeks of intense practice out in the hot summer sun, they marched, popped, and sweat until Bobby Richardson, director, felt their style was perfected.

The band's dedication, and Bobby Richardson's disciplinary actions made this team unbeatable.

The Big Green Marching Machine, with its sharp, crisp, and precise style, gained much recognition by competitors. When competing against the bright, flashy show bands, the uniqueness of the military style was striking.

The Lobo Band's award winning performances placed pride in the hearts of the student body and faculty.

The band won an award for First Division Marching in District. From this contest only two bands were chosen to go on to Region, the Lobos were one. They received a good rating at this contest, and around fifty individual members competed in All-Region with about twenty continuing on to Area.

The Lobos also went to a UIL Concert Sightreading Contest, and to Gatlinburg, Tennessee for a concert and marching contest.

Starting this year, the band supported the basketball team by playing at five of their games showing that the best stride in pride is side-by-side!

Toeing the Line to Today's Top Tunes

Becoming a Viewette is a challenging feat. Along with graceful dancing ability, a Viewette must also achieve academic and social excellence. The Viewette line consists of fifty-five outstanding dancers. They possess stamina and practice intensely to insure a quality performance.

The girls attended the Superstar Drill Team camp held at Southern Methodist University during the summer. The unified squad captured numerous awards. Under the direction of Sherri Brands, the Viewettes returned with their heads held high with almost three hundred ribbons.

The Viewette officers won Most Outstanding Officer Squad, Sweepstakes Trophy, Leadership Award, and held on to the Shining Star Award for two days.

Captain Beth Elam and Lieutenant Eva Lee were elected as Superstar Girls. Consequently, they had the opportunity to travel to New York City and Hawaii for more competition where they performed with the Superstar National Dance Drill Team. This was quite an accomplishment considering only twenty-two girls were selected for this honor out of ninety-six nominees. Lieutenants Jana Bates, Monica Adams, and Veronica Hill also represented us well by being elected Superstar Girl Nominees.

During the Superstar Drill Team camp at Southern Methodist University, the Viewettes learned five new routines to perform at pep rallies, football games, and basketball games.

No matter if the Viewettes performed at home or away, they entertained the Lobo football fans with dazzling half-time performances during football season. Numerous applause were presented to the girls after each and every half-time show.

They danced for the student body every Friday morning to promote school spirit. They held their heads high before, during and after their routines because they were great.

Captain Beth Elam represented the entire officer line in New York City in the annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. She performed with the National Collegiate Athletic Association Superstar Drill Team after intense preparation the week before. Beth and the other officers were named to the Superstar Drill Team due to their performance at summer camp, but Beth was elected to represent them all. The Viewette line sold over two hundred Lobo stadium cushions to raise the money to send Beth to the parade. Sherri Brands, Viewette director, was also selected to participate on the Superstar Drill Team Company staff in New York City.

After football season, the Viewettes continued to practice to display their talent at basketball games and for dance competition,

The annual Viewette Revue was held in March. The dancers entertained the public with smashing performances from Broadway. The Viewette Revue was very successful and concluded the dance season for the seniors.

The team participated in several fund raising activities throughout the year.

The money made determined the amount of dance equipment that could be purchased. Staying up late and making sweets benefitted them in the long run.

They have conquered many chanllenges this year. Therefore, they were rewarded with not only medals but also with pride. "This has been a great year, and I am very pleased!" exclaimed Sherri Brands.

Hard work and long hours were routine for the 1987-88 Viewette line. Each and every hour contributed to the glamour, success, and pride of the Viewettes. They always executed their ability with quality performances. One word describes their accomplishments ... GREAT!

Making Memories Tangible

We panicked, goofed, laughed, cried, missed deadlines, reported events, sold and designed ads. Our year was full of doing and redoing layouts. When the finished product was produced we all agreed that the blood, sweat, and tears were worth it. From the first time the staff met at La Hacienda until the last page was sent to the printers we tried our best to capture the memories of the year.

Each staff member, whether working on identifying people in pictures, designing a page that fit the occasion, taking pictures or promoting the sale of the book, strove to make this book one each student would be proud to own.

The staff worked together as a family sharing problems and, at times, disagreeing, but ended up working as a unit to produce a product of which we can be proud.

Fifty young ladies excited about community service and promoting school spirit joined Z-Club sponsored by Mrs. Bonnie Davis.

During football season, Z-Club members prepared treats for football players and made spirit signs. Christmas time was merrier for the students at the Student Development Center when Z-Club members surprised them with stockings filled with treats. They also sponsored a car wash and part of the proceeds went to the Brian Dodson Memorial Fund.

The Z-Club participated in several annual activities such as the Zonta Antique Show, the Easter egg hunt for the faculty children, the can food drive given to benefit East Texas Abused Families and the necessity drive given to aid the youth shelter.

For the first time, the Z-Clubs of Longview and Pine Tree held a sweetheart formal at the Holiday Inn Holidome.

On The Air

Under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Ann Palmer, members of the Broadcast Journalism class are given the opportunity to write, direct, and produce a television news show aired twice a week on Channel 21. Members also compiled and produced an informative radio show comprised of Longview High School news. KFRO aired the show once a week. This year added a LOBO Hotline, available twenty-four hours a day, offering weekly news and happenings around the campus. Students are selected by application before enrollment and auditioned for rolls including television anchors, camera operations, technical directors, radio announcers, and directors at the initiation of class in the fall. Skills in stage presence, filming, editing, writing, and performance are developed throughout the year.

1952 was a memorable year of bobbie sox, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Hank William's hits. It was a memorable year for Anchor Club also because in 1952 Anchor Club began. This year the Anchor Club celebrated its 35th birthday as a Pilot Club sponsored international youth organization open to scholastically qualified high school girls possessing good character and leadership abilities.

At first Anchor Club grew very rapidly. At the beginning of 1958 there were five clubs, but by year end there were eleven. At the close of 1959 there were 95 Anchor Clubs with over 3000 members.

In 1964, the Anchor symbol was registered, incorporating a modified Pilot wheel atop a ship's anchor to represent the relationship of Anchor Club and Pilot Club, as well as to visually display the name "Anchor".

Our Anchor Club received its charter in September 1959. Several of the Anchor members are following in the footsteps of their mothers, aunts, sisters, and cousins who were also proud to be a part of the Anchor Club network. Last year the LHS chapter celebrated its 25th birthday.

This year the Anchor Club's fund raising events consisted of a chili supper, bake sale, and selling frito pie at the Food Fest.

Award entries submitted by Anchor Club were Community Service Award, Scrapbook Award, and Outstanding Anchor Club Award.

Other activites that Anchor Club participated in were Adopt-A-Park, safety signs, teacher appreciation, spirit signs in locker banks, and juvenile diabetes walk-a-thon.

To help off-set the cost of the production, members sold candy and cokes at the Food Fest and charged admission to the musical. For Christmas, they had a skating party. Each member brought necessities to give to the youth shelter.

As part of the year's activities, SRO participated in various tournaments, winning first at Minneola and third at Marshall. They also competed at the UIL one-act competition, and later the prose and poetry events.

Musical Comedy Company (MCC), sponsored by Pam Mercer-McWilliams, produced Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat as their major project for the year. Throughout the year, MCC members took jazz lessons from choreographer Diane Smith.

The members learned various skills of coordination, the ability to sing freely on stage, as well as an assortment of Broadway and Off-Broadway musicals.

Apples of Our Eye

Students who are interested in entering the teaching profession join Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Betty Lorenz and Ms. Phyllis Wilson. They participated in community and school activities as well as district and state FTA events.

Members helped with the children's activities during Longview Museum and Arts Centers' Fall Fest. They also worked with a group of elementary school children at the Judson Grove Little School.

Judson Grove Little School, constructed by the Longview Independent School District, provides students an opportunity to experience life in a pioneer school. Just like pioneer children, visiting students have spelling bees, dip candles, play games, and learn square dances. FTA members experienced what schools were like during the early 1900's. A fund raiser was held and several books were purchased and presented to Mrs. Sandra Field, director of the Judson Grove Little School.

On campus activities included Food Fest, carnation sales for Valentine's Day, and baked goods sales. Money raised by these events was used to pay for the trip to the state convention in Dallas.

The club held a candy sale to raise money for a scholarship to be awarded to a senior member who will be entering a teacher education program in the fall.

This brings to six the number of scholarships available to FTA members.

The Atlanta FTA hosted the District Convention at which Michellea Southern was elected District President for the coming year. Katie Richardson was selected District Corresponding Secretary. A poem written by Jana Cole won first place and was submitted to the state contest.

The year concluded with a dinner. Awards were presented to outstanding members and to school personnel who have supported the FTA program.

Molding Minds — Moving Mountains

The engineer designs the towers of steel, concrete, and sand.
The sculptor uses tiny tools to carve the statue grand.
The doctor heals the fevered brow with his skill and pills and potions.
The lawyer defends his clients all with words and deep emotions.
The teacher must train all of these — must mold the mind of man.
She plays a major role in the drama of the master plan.
Great things may be accomplished with skill and education.
Even a mountain may be moved by strength and inspiration.
Our future and our world depend, to a very great extent,
On our determination, education, and unwillingness to relent.
The job ahead may be difficult and long,
But we can succeed if we vow to be strong.
We can help the children as their dreams are unfurled.
We can move great mountains and change the world.
As teachers, we can lead the way —
In molding the minds, sculpting the clay.

Quite A Choir

As the premier Choral Organization, the Concert Choir presented many concerts and entered the East Texas competitions for vocalists. Fourteen freshmen were named to the ninth grade All-Region Choir, 30 choir members earned All-District honors, 20 were named to All-Region Choir, and eight singers advanced to All-Area, including three alternates. At the Dallas final auditions, two won memberships in the All-State Choir, entitling them to a trip to San Antonio to perform with the Texas Tech University Symphony Orchestra. The Fall Sacred Music Series included performances at First Methodist, First Presbyterian, and Oakland Heights Baptist churches. The spring schedule featured a concert at Trinity Episcopal Church with the LHS Symphony Orchestra. In addition to the annual Fall and Christmas Concerts in the Little Theatre, choir members performed for the Longview Rotary Club, The Clairmont, Summer Meadows, Pine Tree Lodge, Lively Olds Christmas celebration and joined three other high school choirs for a Christmas performance with the East Texas Symphony Orchestra in Tyler. Thirty-eight members entered UIL Solo and Ensemble competition in February. The main event in April was UIL Concert and Sightreading Contest. The Choir ended the year with a three-day weekend at Six Flags and Wet 'N' Wild. Honors and awards were presented at the May Sounds of Music Concert, including College Music Scholarships for seniors, and summer All-State Choir Camp Scholarships for underclassmen.

Sensational Singers

This year's mixed pop group consisted of sixteen vocalists, five instrumentalists, and two mixer operators. Members are auditioned in March, and are selected at that time for the next year's group. In addition to the annual Fall, Christmas, and Spring concerts in the Little Theatre, the Singsations perform for many events throughout the school year. Special Christmas concerts were held at Colonial Village, Eden Place Apartments, Cleaver Memorial Convalescent Center, Lynn Lodge, LHS ACCS School, and the Longview Mall. Vocalist members joined the East Texas Symphony in Tyler for a December concert, and participated in the Sacred Music Series concert at Trinity Episcopal Church with the LHS Symphony Orchestra. Fall T.M.E.A. auditions produced twelve All-District Choir members, five All-Area, and two All-State Choir winners. The entire group entered UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest in February at Gladewater, which also included fourteen soloists competing for the right to represent LHS at the Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest in May at UT-Austin. The final concert of the year, which is part of the Sounds of Music series, featured individual soloists and special staging and lighting, with everyone in the spotlight. The annual three-day weekend to Six Flags and Wet 'N' Wild after the concert provided some well-earned recreation and relaxation.

Here We Come A-Caroling

Performing in combination with the Freshmen Select Choir, Chorale members presented musical selections at the Fall Concert, Christmas Concert, and the spring Sounds of Music series. A highlight of their December activities was a special evening of caroling to grandparents, relatives, shut-ins, and friends. One freshman member was named to the ninth grade All-Region Choir, and two members entered UIL Vocal Solo and Ensemble Contest in February at Gladewater High School. The Chorale joined the other four Choral Organizations for the March Sacred Music Series Concert at Trinity Episcopal Church, along with the LHS Symphony Orchestra, and featured organist, Robert Santillo. In order to help finance their annual three-day weekend to Six Flags and Wet 'N' Wild, members participated in bake sales, the March garage sale, and the April Saturday car wash. They sold tickets to the Choir Booster-sonsored Basketball Games, and in April entered the UIL Choirs Concert and Sight-reading Contest in Marshall. In August, two Chorale members attended the All-State Choir Clinic at Stephen F. Austin Univerity, and in October, four members journeyed to Huntsville for Sam Houston State University's All-State Clinic.

No Longer Plows and Cows

With over 200 present day careers in agriculture, the Future Farmers of America must show students the many phases of agriculture. FFA taught members disipline, responsibility, horticulture, and agriculture. This knowledge will help them in their careers and daily lives.

"Raising an animal for a show takes much care and attention, but the knowledge gained from the experience will last a lifetime," said Ricky Fish.

Horticulture is a branch of agriculture that specializes in the production and use of fruits, vegetables, shrubs, and trees. It includes landscape, gardening, and floral design. FFA members learned about raising and caring for plants, and designed gardens and landscapes.

"I have learned more about the outside world; not only about farming, but landscaping and planting," said Caussia Ingram.

Follow the Leader

The purpose of ROTC is to interest and train select high school students to qualify as comissioned officers in the military. The high morale and discipline exhibited by the corps may be traced to the combined efforts of Chief Warrant Officer John W. Knox and Sgt. George Burnett. Based on the ideals of good fellowship, honesty, self-reliance, self-discipline, and team play, the ROTC has been an active military organization at Longview High School. The basic premises of patriotism, sportsmanship, and human dignity formed the foundation of the team. This extraordinary group had the desire and the ability to successfully represent the high school in military competition.

Creative Coiffeurs

Beautiful faces and gorgeous hairdos were only two of the ambitions of the students in Cosmetology. In a laboratory setting students had the opportunity to develop concepts and acquire skills in shampooing, manicuring, haircutting, hairstyling, facial treatments, permanent waving, hair coloring, bleaching and other beauty techniques. After completion of Cosmetology II students were knowledgeable enough to successfully pass the State Board Exam and receive their license as a beautician.

Office Excitement

The Office Education Association is designed to help students develop skills related to all office occupations, financial responsibilities, and effective communication. Students also studied concepts that would allow them to have successful employment and improve leadership qualities.

OEA is a two year class. Students in OEA I had hands on experience with several pieces of advanced office equipment such as the CPT 8520 Word Processor, IBM Memory Typewriter and the SuperScripsit Word Processing on Radio Shack Model III. Students in OEA II met in class one hour daily and averaged three hours training per day in Longview Business Offices. In the offices students performed word processing, secretarial, computer entry and general office clerical work for which they received school credits. OEA has been in existence for 21 years under the advisorship of Mr. Eldoras Jenkins and Mrs. Nancy Humphreys.

Making Headlines

The Long-View, in its 51st year of publication, is produced by the Longview High School Newspaper Production class taught by Mary Ruth Dunlap. The paper, ranked one of the highest high school newspapers in East Texas, was completely self-supporting. All expenses for the publication of the newspaper were paid from the advertising space sold by the students to local merchants. Students worked diligently to produce approximately one issue per month.

The newspaper is among the few high school newspapers that is standard size, 5 columns by 23 inches. The paper combined articles on school functions, editorial columns, a school calender, and upcoming events, including stories on sports, school, and club news.

The executive staff along with 34 other staff writers and photographers made the complete Long-View staff.

The Long-View is a member of the Texas High School Press Association and the Interscholastic League Press Association.

Wonders in Automotive

Auto Technology provided students with the essential skills needed to prepare them for a career as an automotive mechanic or positions in the automotive industry.

Students analyzed malfunctions in automotive components, repaired auto engine components and carburetor fuel systems. Students also studied costumer relations techniques, shop operating procedures, and employer relations.

VEH General Machine Repair is designed specifecally for students with handicaps .

Opportunities were given for students to learn skills needed to become gainfully employed in industrial related jobs. Instructional and lab experience in small engine servicing, tune-up, repairing, and other skills proved to be useful for entry into an industrial occupation for these students. The development of a positive, healthy attitude, cooperation with fellow workers, self-confidence, and safe working practices were also emphasized.

A Competitive Lifestyle

The Debate team strove to improve their ability to present formal arguments during this year. The students had the opportunity to become involved in competitive and scholastic tournaments throughout the area.

The group won the debate tournament held in John Tyler, and they competed in the Dallas area and San Antonio. The motivated team captured extemporaneous speaking awards at Pine Tree and White Oak U.I.L. meets.

The National Debate Clinic was held at Longview High School and hosted by Baylor University. The clinic was open to all schools in Texas, and it offered hints and tips for eager debaters. Dr. Lee Polk, chairman of the communications division at Baylor University, conducted the clinic successfully.

The team was very outstanding in competition, and nobody can debate that fact!

Industrial Plant Maintenance helped prepare students for entry into the industrial market. Students were trained in dismantling, constructing, and repairing industrial machinery. Students learned about industrial mathematics, blueprint reading, hydraulics, welding and sheet metal work. Upon completion of the course students were prepared to go to work in an entry level positon or go to college for further training.

Preparing For The Future

"Responsibility is a major lesson learned in this class," said Pam Nolan. Students in Industrial Cooperative Training explored a specific occupation or a variety of pursuits. It also taught safe working practices, care and use of hand tools and equipment, and concepts related to career awareness.

Working 12 to 5

Students involved the Coordinated Vocational Academic Education attended school in the morning and worked in the afternoon. The students' jobs ranged from food service, welder assistant, auto mechanic assistant to veterinarian assistant. "The co-op program has been a very positive asset," said Jeff Milstein. "The hands-on experience was excellent," said Lori Blackson.

Mr. Mike Toon, sponsor, did more than just class work. He located positions for which students could apply.

Better than Ever

"Begun in 1985, Campus Life has grown from seven students to weekly meetings of over 75 students and many wild and fun activities. Campus Life is an informal group run by local people and LHS student leaders, offering Longview High unusual opportunities for growth.

In a typical year Campus Lifers will get muddy, laughed with, friends, excited, travel, exchange ideas, challenged, and more," said Rick Webb, leader.

Technically Inclined

Technically-oriented students interested in theatre, but who were not initially interested in performing became involved in Technical Theatre.

Theories of design and stagecraft techniques are combined with theatre safety, construction, and operation of the various elements of technical theatre. Students explored the use of lighting, costumes, make-up, sound, and public relations.

The "Techies" designed, built, painted, and worked the lights for all the shows performed by the Drama Department, and gained experience from running lights and working backstage for organizations using the Little Theatre and T.G. Field Auditorium. They also designed scale size sets and entered them in contests.

High Strung

The Longview High School Orchestra was formed from very select LHS students. The members were enhanced by the different kinds of music they learned, and their abilities were strengthened through the direction of Mr. Charles Parsons, instructor.

In January, 24 members participated in the All-Region orchestra concert. In Febuary, the UIL solo and ensemble contest was held at Kilgore College with 14 members taking home 1st division medals. On March 6, a Sacred Music Concert was held in conjuction with LHS choir at the Trinity Episcopal Church. Also on March 12, the members played continuously from 10:00 am to 9:00 pm at the Play-a-Thon held at the Longview Mall.

Making the Sparks Fly

Students under the expert guidence of David Galbraith learned techniques which provided them with the skills to become welders. They developed abilities in cutting and filing and in utilization of different welding techniques. These skills were put to practical use in designing and fabricating a variety of projects, such as trailers and log racks. They competed in the Spring U.I.L. Welding Meet.

In addition to manipulative skills on machines, technical concepts and skills in the use of precision measuring instruments, working blueprint mathematics common to machine shop application.

Team Effort

The athletics program at LHS can be described in only one way: a first class act. Our outstanding sports program would not have been possible without the dedication of not only the students who participated, but also coaches and fans.

The football player showed his dedication on the field and during boot camp. The track runner demonstrated his dedication by continuing to run his last two laps while feeling faint. Dedicated fans not only came to the in-town games, but drove for miles to lead their team to victory out-of-town as well.

After all, it's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game. And we played each and every game with class.

Lobos Reclaim District Crown

Going into the 1987 season, Lobo Head Coach Doug Cox was cautious about trying to determine this years outcome. Although being picked to end up about third or fourth in the district, the teams level of intensity was high.

The Lobos began their '87 pre-season by playing Kilgore in Bulldog Stadium. Coming up short, 19-24, the Lobos executed some good play.

Following the Kilgore loss, the Lobos worked out with lots of enthusiasm. They went on to dominate Trimble Tech 40-2.

In the last pre-season game, the Lobos paired off against Dallas Carter. Playing with revenge after last years upset, Longview hung on to beat the Cowboys 10-7.

Entering district play, the Lobos had a pre-season record of 2-1 and the team was questionable. Their first opponent was Tyler Lee. After battling it out for four quarters against the Red Raiders, the Lobos managed to hold on to a 10-3 decision.

The Lobos then traveled to Texarkana where they took on Texas High. Longview had one of its best games as they rumbled past the Tigers 49-6.

The following week, Longview hosted Nacogdoches and the team played with great determination after the loss of one of the Lobo players, Brian Dodson. Longview slayed the Dragons 50-0, and were on their way to a district title.

The next step in the Lobos race for a district championship was Lufkin. Longview traveled to Panther Stadium and lost a hard fought contest, 15-6.

The following week, Longview was to take on undefeated Marshall. The Lobos played in front of a packed Lobo Stadium. Longview pulled out a 34-22 decision and broke Marshall's 7 game winning streak. The win was the nineteenth straight victory over the Mavericks for the Lobos. Eric Faggett had a spectacular performance, as did many other offensive and defensive players.

The Lobos then dominated the John Tyler Lions 35-8 and were in first place in the district race.

The Lobos ended regular season play against cross-town rival Pine Tree. They played with a grudge against the Pirates, due to last years defeat which cost them the district title. There were many key performances that night, and the Lobos went on to capture the district championship by beating Pine Tree 34-12.

Longview paired off against Killeen Ellison in the Bi-District game. The Lobos shined at Texas Stadium, and beat the Eagles 22-8.

The following week, Longview treked to College Station to take on the Cy-Fair Bobcats. The Lobos were unable to ever get it rolling and lost to the Bobcats 7-21.

Longview ended a spectacular season and had overcome many obstacles in order to win the district crown. This was also the fifth straight year for the Lobos to be in the playoffs.

In memory of Brian Dodson, Number 82, we dedicate this past season to him. He will always be remembered in our hearts for all the fun times and laughter he provided.

All Set — Then Spiked

Despite a trying season, the members of the volleyball team constantly were tough. They battled their opponents down to the wire, only to taste the bitterness of defeat, ending the season with a 1 — 12 record. Although they had an unsuccessful season, some individuals gave outstanding performances. Dawn Childs received First Team All-district honors and Outstanding Setter. Shamona Fite and Freda Barber were awarded honorable mention credit. The team competed in the Texarkana tournament. Even though they did not advance to the winner's circle, they took the Consolation place. They captured second place in Robert E. Lee. Freda Barber was named to the All-Tournament team in both tournaments. Dawn Childs and Altha Palmer earned All-Tournament honors in Robert E. Lee's tournament.

LOBOS

The Traditions Continues

The traditions of the Lady Lobos continues, going into the season they were ranked 5th in the state. Each year they produce the most elite players in the state. The 1987-88 varsity Lady Lobos had a sparkling season, finishing with a 33-2 record. Their only losses suffered came from Victoria, in the Waco Midway tournament, and North Mesquite in overtime, 50-47. Highlights of the season were finishing the season with a clean 14-0 district record, and beating their arch rivals the Robert E. Lee Lady Raiders in both district games, by a huge margin. Other highlights were defeating Waco and Spring High School, to capture Bi-District championship and Area championship honors.

The Lady Lobos graduated five senior members, the largest number ever to leave the team in a single year. They are Tonette Beaty, Patricia Beckworth, Chris Ferrell, Shonda Hyder, and Wendi Widdle.

Tonette Beaty started at the backside post in last year's regional finalist team. She earned 2nd team All-District hohors last year , but was only able to play the last home game, due to a knee injury.

Patricia Beckworth leaves the team with 2nd team All-District honors, honorable-mention All-East Texas, and was selected for the Sixth man Award.

Chris Ferrell leaves with three first team All-District, 3rd team All-State, 2nd team All-Region, and many other awards obtained during her high school career.

Shonda Hyder gave the team a valuable back-up at the point guard position, and is one of the fastest and quickest Lobos ever to play in the program.

Wendi Widdle was named first team All-District and 3rd team All-East Texas. She developed into one of the state's top recruits.

They were led by their captains and senior trio, Patricia Beckworth, Chris Ferrell, Wendi Widdle.

Patricia Beckworth suffered a ankle injury early in the season, but came back to average 17.3 points and 4.9 assists. Chris Ferrell averaged 20.1 points and hit 116 free throws for the season. Wendi Widdle averaged 18.4 points a game and pulled down 452 rebounds for the season. The other two starters were Becky Seecs and Altha Palmer. Altha averaged 6.6 assists and 4.8 steals.

Altough the season was not joyous, several of the players contributed superb performances to the team. The scoring attack was led by Shannon Boyd, finishing the season with 229 points. Tammy Carter connected for 8, 3-pointers. Larasulm Robinson dished out the most assists, while Angela Lawson ripped the boards to lead in rebounds. Lobos Go All the Way to Regional

The Lobos went further this year than they have since their 80 — 81 season.

The Lobos open the new season with non-district game against Palestine. defeating them 71 to 61 then Henderson with a whopping 88 to 44, and Fair Park 55 to 52.

The Crowley tournament was the first to be held in the 87 — 88 season. Lobos dominated Crowley 75 to 61, and also Duncanville 57 to 54. Longview Lobos lost their first game of the season to Fort Worth Southwest at the Crowley tournament, lossing 64 to 67. The next tournament was the Kilgore tournament in which Longview came out with a big victory, overturning Sabine 97 to 43, Pinetree 104 to 62, and Gladewater 75 to 54.

At the beginning of the district games the Lobos had a near perfect record of 16 and 1. The first district game was against Robert E. Lee, defeating them 75 to 56. Their second district opponet was Texas High which was also the highlight of the Lobos season, the Lobos whipped them with an awesome score of 110 to 89.

The mighty Lobos lost four games which were to John Tyler twice, the first game was 58 to 77, and the second to John Tyler was 78 to 84. The other games lost were to Lufkin 44 to 69, and to Pinetree 51 to 68. Finishing the district games and going on to the Bi-District game the Lobos had a record of 26 wins and 5 losses.

At the Bi-District game the Lobos played Waco University and defeated them 94 to 80. At the Area Playoff the Lobos overthrew Huntsville 89 to 68 and at the regional tournament the Lobos triumphed over Dallas Spruce 69 to 64, but there was a very heart shattering end to the Longview Lobos success, they lost to South Oak Cliff 57 to 62. The Lobos might have lost this year but there is always next year for them to go to state.

Lobo Soccer Goes For The Goal . . .

Soccer Makes It to the Playoffs Again

The Lobo Soccer team has had a great year, having made it to the playoffs and also having eleven players named as top athletes in the annual Sports Banquet. Judd Gibson made 1st place Most Valuable Player, while John Nethery made 1st place in Leadership. Other top honors were Darrel Sherman with 2nd place as the Scholar Athlete, and Johnny Ward with the 2nd place Team Player Award. Honorable mentions in the banquet were : Steve Allbritton, Derrick Atkinson, Tony Dorman, Eric Jacobs, Steve McDaniel, Japeth Pace, and Matt Trippet.

Coach Stimac had twice as many seniors as he had last year, which made quite a difference, not to mention the overall growth in the team size. This year's seniors were: Steve Allbritton, Jason Barnette, Judd Gibson, Patrick Pollak, Darrel Sherman, Johnny Ward, and David Witt. There will be even more seniors next year, so a definite place in next year's playoffs could be in the Lobo soccer team's future.

Young Contenders

The varsity tennis team was a fairly young and inexperienced team. Coach Blackstone feels that within the next two years the team will be a serious contender for a district title.

The boys and girls competed in the district meet. Mike Casperson and Ryan Adair won Consolation in the boys doubles. For the girls, Keely Hawkins won third place, in the girls singles. Overall the boys came in sixth place and the girls came in fourth place.

A Step Ahead . . .

Five Tracksters Make Regionals

The Lobo girls' track team had a great year. They finished in third place at the District Meet. The Most Outstanding Team Member named at the annual Sports Banquet was Angelia Sells, while the Most Outstanding Ninth Grader was LaShanna Ross. Angelia Sells is a graduating senior. Through her high school years, she has been a very dedicated Lobo trackster. LaShanna Ross was a welcome surprise to the team. She performed like a very experienced runner and high jumper. It is a great comfort that LaShanna will be returning, said Coach Linda Greer.

Regional Qualifiers

Maria Butler (3200M, 1600M)

Running Away With It

The 1987 Boys' Cross Country season was marked by the fact they had only 10 runners. But the willingness, hard work and dedication of these special guys will be remembered for years to come. Placing third at the District Meet, they missed qualifying for regionals for the first time in seven years. They finished third or better in most of their meets, with their best performance winning the Duncanville Invitational. They were led by the top performances of Anthony Bradley and Judd Gibson each week along with Ed Walker, Frankie Skinner, LaRoyce Sublett, Kirk Talley, Robert Beisher, Mike Stoker, Chris Rachaland, and Stephen Johnson. This team can best be expressed as WINNERS.

Steadily Running

The Lady Lobos Cross Country Team had an outstanding season. The team finished second at the District Meet with 49 points while Lufkin had 46. The Lady Lobos qualified for Regionals for the second consecutive year.

Maria Butler won the District meet and Anne Jones was third. Other regional qualifiers were Seniors: Cynthia Boothe, Cathy Gebert and Denisa Jimerson; Junior: Carol Taylor and Sophomore: Tamicia Thomas.

UP TO PAR

The Boys' Golf team battled tough opponents and ended sixth in district play. Leaders were Mike Felker, Matthew McConaughey, and Craig Raibourn. Longview entered a Girls' team into competition for the first time. Since all three girls are freshmen, this team should be very strong by their senior year.

Community Supporters

Many community merchants showed their support by purchasing advertising space in the Lobo this year.

The importance of ads in a yearbook allows expansion and upgrading the publication.

Students' favorite lunchtime and after school businesses were more inclined to participate by purchasing ads to show their gratitude. It is a small price to pay for rewards that will come in return.

These advertisers enabled themselves to keep in touch with students, parents and faculty.

C.W. Bailey — Divisional Sales Manager

Kevin Hill: You are such a special young man, and we are very proud of you. Continue to set your goals high and the world will be at your fingertips. We love you so much. Mom, Dad, and Scott.

Dawn Rachelle Harris: My precious baby girl, how fast you've grown. Eighteen years have somehow flown and now you are a beautiful young woman. Through the smiles and tears, yours and mine, we've made it. I want you to know how very much you are loved. I thank God every day for the loan of one of His "precious babies" to be "my little girl". A happy, successful life is my wish for you. Congratulations, honey. I love you, Mom.

Mark D. Zeigler: How far you've come in the short span of your time, we are all very proud of you and what you have accomplished. Use the God given talents you have to always go forward. We love you and feel blessed by your presence. The group.

Robbi Elaine Childress: What a special treat from God! And what a special little lady you turned out to be. Not only pretty of face, but lovely on the inside. We love you! Mom and Dad.

Jesse A. Johnson, II: You are so special to us. Thanks for being you. It has been a joy to watch you grow from a happy baby to a fine young man . . . strong and bold yet gentle and loving. We are proud of the goals you have set for yourself and the accomplishments you have made. Your kindness and compassion will help you achieve your life's dreams. Stay as you are and God's blessings will follow you. We love you. Mom and Dad.

Chad Henry: On "Fire-cracker Eve," 1969, God blessed us with a little blonde, curley-haired "sparkler" that's still glowing to brighten our darker days. Thank you "punkin" for the many honor-rolls, awards, trophies — but mostly for being you! And remember — when life's bases are loaded, and you feel at bat all alone, swing level "sweet slugger", and bring it back home. We love you so. Mom, Dad, J-E, and Gran-ma. P.S. Good luck, Longhorn!

Trey Hickman: This is when you first asked your mother, "I for a blue blazer." A mom and dad could not be prouder. With much love, congratulations. Mom and Dad.

Betty Rice: From a special little girl to a very special young woman. Congratulations! I am very proud of you. Love Mom.

Jana Rene Cole: We're so thankful God blessed us with you just seventeen years ago. You've made our lives complete. Stay as wonderful as you are and all can be yours. We are so proud of you. Now the whole world is in front of you. Go for it!

SPAZ!
FOR CHRIST

Hi!

I'm glad to see that your curiosity got the best of you 'cause what I want to tell ☛ you about is simply awesome!!

Yes, it is really called SPAZ for Christ. Why? I was hoping you would ask that. How many times have you been to church in your lifetime? Out of those, how many times did you experience a one to one relationship with GOD? We SPAZers believe that a one to one can and will take place everyday if you want it to. We are just as tired of hearing about the "sinful NO -NO's" as you are. That's why at SPAZ for Christ, a non-denominational youth group, we focus on the positive ways of GOD. After all if you are trying to do the do's, do you have time to do the don't[s]? NO WAY!!!

Now don't get the idea that we are squares ❑ ✓✓ Because we're not. As a matter of fact fun is too boring for SPAZers, so we SPAZ out! But we are serious about our LORD too. Dead Serious. After all HE's what life's about. Sound too good to be true? Well, all I can say is come see for yourself. We SPAZers believe that talk is cheap anyway. You have got to experience it for yourself. After all at SPAZ for Christ:

GOD'S NOT AN IDEA - HE'S A FACT!

SEE YA SOON!

Joe Brookins: At the age of two, you were already in sports. Many years later, at the age of sixteen, you are still in sports. It has been exciting and a challenge watching you grow from a "Little Baby Joe" to a handsome man, "Cujo". Stay as you are and remember God is always there with you in your new walks of life. We love you very much, Mom, Dad, your sis, Dee Dee, and your brother, Terry.

Robert Sterling Webb: Congratulations! We are proud of you! Thanks for being a real pleasure in our lives since the beginning of fifth grade. You are very special to us. May the Lord guide and bless your future. We love you. Your Foster Mom and Dad.

Lissa Lynn Clay: You made it! Like learning to ride for the first time, anything is possible when you try! Congratulations! Love, Mom, Dad, Shannon, and B.J.

Andria Arkins: Congratulations Cuffer! Love, Mom, Dad, and Brennen.

Kem Stuckey: Congratulations! You've come a long way baby, and the rest is yet to come! Thanks for all the joy you bring to so many. Acknowledge the Lord in all your ways, and He will guide you and keep you safe. Love, Mom.

Rachel Anne Clifton: You have brought us so much pleasure, first as a precious baby, and now as a lovely young lady. We all look forward to sharing your spacy future with you. We love you, Mom, Dad, Cindy, and Emily.

Patricia Ann Taylor: Congratulations! You finally made it. May God bless you in a special way. We love you, Loretta, Essie, Lottie, Frederick, Ricky, and Betty.

Angel Nix: I can't believe in such a short time you have gone from my "Little Angel" to a beautiful young lady. You have given me so much pleasure, joy, and love. May the Lord guide and bless you in all you do. You will always be my "Little Angel". Congratulations. All my love, Your Mom.

David Wayne Neely: What a fine young man you have grown up to be. Always be the polite, kind, and loving person you are and God's blessing will follow you. We wish you much happiness and success in your endeavors. We love you, Mom, Dad, Allyson, and Jerry.

Andrew Berger: You have grown from a darling little boy into a handsome young man. We are so proud of the way you've handled disappointments in your life and ask God to bless you as you seek to bring honor and glory to Him in your life's work. Keep your eyes on Him always. You are very special and loved very much. Mom and Dad.

Camisa Springs: Congratulations! You finally made it. We are proud of you and knew if you buckled down, you could do it. Our baby is a big girl now and we want the best for you. May you have the best that life can offer. Love, Mother, Dad, Bobby, Earnest, Andrea, and Phyllis.

Kelly Hearnsberger: Congratulations! You are all that we hoped for and much more. God has blessed us with a caring, loving child. It has been such a blessing to watch you grow into the fine young man you are today. We love you, Mom and Dad.

Toni Rene' Luttrell: These eighteen years have flown by to us while they probably seemed to just drag on to you. In these years, you have grown to be a beautiful, sensitive, and compassionate young lady. We are very proud of you. We wish you much joy and happiness, and God's richest blessings in all that you do. We love you, Mom and Dad.

Jason Barnette: You made it! Congratulations! We are very proud of you. Love, Mom, Dad, Lance, and Dana.

Arlene Gibson: We are so proud of you! What a joy and a blessing you have been in our lives from "Little Precious" as a child to the beautiful, sweet, Christian young lady you are today. May the Lord bless you and keep you. All our love, Mom and Dad.

Sharon and Shannon Williams: Double pleasure! Double fun! Double memories! Double blessings! Hurt knees to hurt hearts. May God continue to guide you both through life. Double love, Mother.

Laura Works: You are everything Mom and Dad ever wanted in our little girl. These eighteen years have been a special blessing for our family. Congratulations and always strive to be everything God wants you to be.

Rosendo J. Gonzalez: Hey dude! We are so proud of you. Your out-going personality will always win you friends. Always continue to keep your own individuality and lead others in a positive direction. We love you, Mom, Pop, and Daniel.

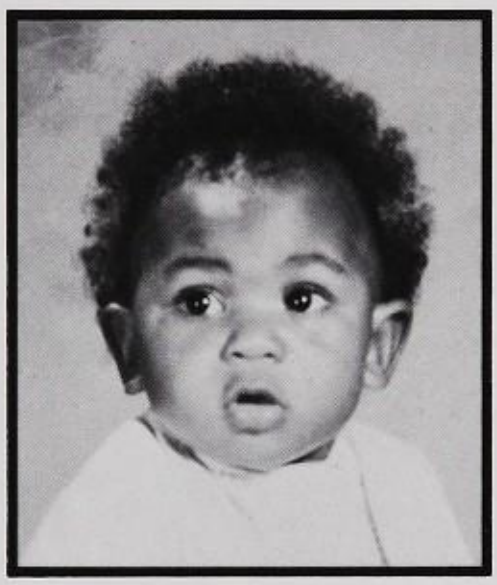
Holly Jetton Morgan: You'll always be number one with us! We love you, Mom and Dad.

Sara Flemister: How quickly the time has flown past. You were our baby in diapers, our baby in dogie ears, our baby in braces, and now our baby graduating. Life will continue flying past, but one thing won't change — you will always be our baby.

Jennifer Emmel: You are so special! You will never know what a joy you have been to me. You have strong ambition and inner strengths that are yet untapped. Reach deep within yourself and with maturity there is no limit to what you can achieve. With continuing grace from God, you can be a truly special person.



William Kevin Burton: With God's help, you have taken your first giant step toward your goal of independence. Congratulations! Love, Mom and Daph.

Sharon Anne Ronzello: Eighteen years ago, God blessed us with a very special baby girl and through the years, as we've watched you grow, you've brought such pleasure to our lives. Especially these past six years. God has truly blessed us. We are very proud of all your accomplishments and know that with God's blessings you will achieve the goals that you have set for yourself in life. You will always be our baby. We love you, Mom and Dad.

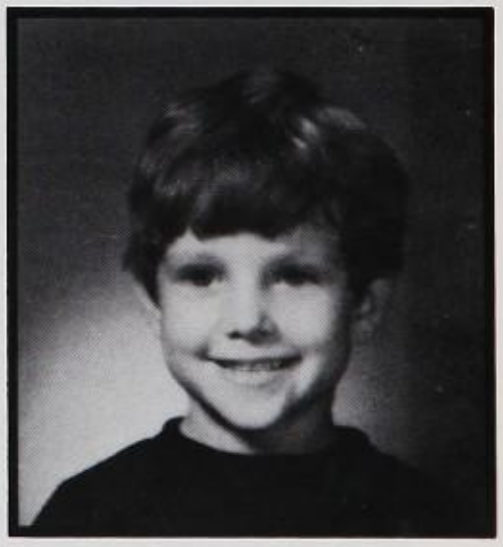
Stephen Allgood: Congratulations! We are proud of you. Mom and Cal.



David Baker: As proud as we are of all your accomplishments, it doesn't compare to the pride we have in you as a person. Thank you for blessing our lives and being that son we are so proud of. Love, Mother and Dad.

DREAMS OF GOLD

As we grew up, we developed meaning. The colors that were so close to us helped us develop that meaning. That red sweater that went along on the first date with our NEW boyfriend will mean something someday, but not now. We all learned something-whether it was about relationships, partying, or studying. But those lesson's won't help until later, because we won't appreciate them until later. All these first times will be remembered, and filed under "S" for special.

Green will always be an exciting color and when remembered as being part of our alma mater, will add even more excitement to that memory. The day we felt so blue because of a speeding ticket, a failed test we had studied so hard for or the friend who got married will always have a special place. The Prom when we all realized it was almost over and the tears we shed because of it are shades of pale pink. It made us see that it was almost time to say good bye to this part of our life. The rehearsal where we all cried with the realization that graduation was the next day, colored our world a deep meloncholy purple. The green and white graduates sat on the stadium field Tuesday night. As we looked at each other we knew. The tears were there because we loved and we cared. And we said good-bye.

All the memories are ours. And all will keep the fire and brillance that memories of high school deserve. And someday they'll turn to gold-and be worth so much-as much as a yearbook signature, a rose from mom on graduation, or a promise ring from that special someone. The sparkle will remain forever. And real gold never loses its BRILLIANCE!

Jennifer Emmel

COLOPHON

The editors started planning the '88 LOBO the end of February '87 when the new staff was announced. It was not until the last day of school, May 28, that we had it, our perfect theme. It was that type of theme that everything just sort of fell into place. Since it was the book's 75th anniversary, we tried to think of something to deal with the past. This year's kindergarten is the new generation, the Class of 2000, which deals with the future. Then we have our lives here which represents the present. The past, present, and future affect our life today in many different ways. I guess if you look at it as a puzzle, the three things complete our lives to make a finished picture. These aspirations helped us to clinch the idea: Piecing Together: Past, Present, Future.

One of our many decisions was to decide on what kind of type to use. Out of 31 possible choices, there could only be one. The final decision was Century School Book because of its clarity and simplicity. All headlines in the organizations section and the sports section were done in Century Schoolbook bold in 30 point. Captions under the pictures were printed in 8 point. A new style of caption was used, with a bold headline describing the basic picture, then the caption explaining the headline and picture. Instead of captions being under the picture, they were put to the side to give it a new effect. These are called block captions. Another new thing we did was to use photo credits. These were done in 6 point italic . All the body copy, which should be on almost all pages, was done in 10 point.

When you look at this cover, we want it to give you chills like it did us when we designed it. On July 24, 1987, Sonya, Jennifer, Mrs. Johnson and Eddie (Taylor Publishing Artist) sat down at a big table and designed our cover. We used a picture of our cafeteria lobos taken by Keith Lloyd of Paul's Photography on our cover as well as our division pages. The cover is lithocote done in 4-color over #15 heavy binder's board. The endsheets were taken by Paul's Photograpy and Malloy & Bresie Architects.

Consisting of 5 flats of color in the organizations, opening and ads and a total of 336 pages of #70 enamel paper, the total cost of the book was $30,270.00. Since we sold 800 books, each book costs approximately $37.84 to produce. We had a one day sale on which the books sold for $25.00. After that the cost went up to $27.50 to include tax. After Christmas Break they went up to $30.00 to include a late order fee.

Taylor Publishing did all of our printing and David Jones was our representative. All of our copy was done on the computer. Whatever you do, don't let your computer overheat because you will lose everything! Unfortunately, we know!!!!

The staff would like to extend their sincere appreciation to Mrs. Nancy Emmel, Mrs. Claire Mannning and Bob Johnson for the long night spent at the high school on February 17 (the morning of the 18th) redoing the 18 freshmen pages. (Any of these people are now qualified to hold their own workshop displaying the right and wrong ways to layout a page.) Also a warm, sincere thank-you to Betty Lorenz and Linda Monkhouse for their unsolicited help with some of the organization pages. Mrs. Monkhouse got to use some of her old high school skills.

We are so sorry if we have spelled your name incorrectly, put your name on someone else's body or totally left you out. Our minds don't seem to work very clearly at odd hours of the morning. We hope you enjoy this book and will someday, sooner or later, read the copy in it because that is what makes the book special. Maybe someday when you do look back on this book, your life will be one perfect, put-together puzzle that resulted from the past, present and future.
